For Immediate Release

Accubid Acquires Sselect Inc.

Toronto, Canada, April, 2004

Accubid Systems is pleased to announce the acquisition of Sselect Inc. of Denver, Colorado. Sselect is the leading provider of CAD add-on software for electrical contractors. With Sselect's CAD interfaces, estimators can count and measure objects in AutoCAD drawings, then import the takeoffs into their estimating program.

Sselect founder Keith Hallman considers the move a step forward for both Sselect users and Accubid users. "Within the Accubid family, Sselect's CAD products can be more tightly integrated with Accubid's estimating programs, delivering value that will be not only unrivalled but also practical and easy to implement."

Accubid President & CEO Giovanni Marcelli describes the acquisition as a win-win-win for clients, Accubid, and Sselect. "The opportunities for integration and synergy between the two product families are truly exciting", says Giovanni. To this end, Accubid plans to develop and release a new version of Sselect's cadTakeOff product under the Accubid brand in the near future.

Keith Hallman will join Accubid as the manager of Accubid's new CAD Integration Products division, and will continue to direct the development of the Sselect product line. Existing Sselect users will continue to deal with the Sselect team on matters of product support, training, and implementation.
