CONSTRUCTECH
2004 | TECHNOLOGY'S
HOTTEST

Accubid Systems—the leading provider of estimating, change order, and billing software for electrical, mechanical, and cabling contractors—has been selected as one of Technology's Hottest Companies of 2004 by Constructech magazine, as announced in the August issue.

According to the magazine's editors, "Accubid is consistently striving to change the construction landscape with the highest level of technological innovation, the broadest array of products and services, and a continued commitment to placing the customer first and foremost."

"Accubid has proven that true innovation comes from helping construction firms take a good long look at how they can make their companies be more efficient and effective, while reducing costs, and ultimately making their firms more profitable."

Giovanni Marcelli, president and CEO of Accubid Systems, was pleased to learn of the award. According to Giovanni, "this is just the latest recognition of our commitment to harness the newest technologies to help contractors become more efficient and accurate."

Constructech magazine is a monthly industry publication devoted to examining the use of technology in construction. Accubid's software solutions are used by over 10,500 active users in over 3,500 companies across North America. Accubid offers proven solutions for all aspects of the construction process, from estimating to purchasing to project management and billing. Accubid also offers a wide range of professional development courses and product training labs.
